- g. Youth engagement
Order: Jim Lee advised the Committee that previously, the Garda Síochána had made approaches to the Department of Children and Youth Affairs (DCYA) looking to improve relations between themselves and young people. As a number of Comhairle had also expressed their desire to improve relationships, it was decided that three Comhairle na nÓg areas would pilot a process to improve dialogue between the young people and an Garda Síochána. The three areas were Wicklow, Roscommon and Cabra in Dublin. This process is ongoing and once this pilot process is complete, it is hoped that the model developed can be used across the whole country. At the European Cities for Children Network Seminar on 30th September a presentation on this process was made by Sergeant Colm Corrigan of an Garda Síochána and we can arrange for this , or an update on this project, to be made to the next JPC meeting.
