As set out under the Housing (Standards for Rented Houses) Regulations 2017 " The house shall have access to suitable and adequate pest and vermin proof refuse storage facilities." Whilst the onus is on the landlord to provide the required bins, there is no onus on the landlord to provide the required infrastructure internally in units to adequately segregate waste in order for tenants to adhere to the various bye-laws around the country, which requires waste to be adequately segregated (see https://www.mywaste.ie/my-household-waste-bye-laws/). As far as I am aware it is the obligation of the tenant to be in compliance with the Bye-Laws. This lack of basic multi-segment bins within units is a contributory factor in which leads to poor rates of recovery from materials and also contamination of waste streams due to impediments being put placed on tenants. Please see the attached infographic which has been prepared by the DCCAIE as part of their current public consultations which confirms this. A simple solution to this would be that the landlord is required to provide segmented waste bins internally for Black, Green and Brown Bins. This wouldn't require a massive investment from landlords and could be stipulated by way of bye law to be in place for all new tenancies to give people adequate time to upgrade their waste bins. Brown Bins could be a small caddy as opposed to a stand-alone bin. I hope that DCC would consider and see the merit in amending the obligations of Landlords by way of bye law to factor in the above measures to improve the levels of recycling, diversion from landfill and recovery of materials which can be impeded by not having adequate bins within units.	The purpose of the consultation is to provide for submissions relating to the proposed amendment of the Dublin City Waste Bye Laws that seeks to introduce a regulation and methodology for the use of specific alternative waste containers in specific areas of the city. The submission does not address the specific areas that are proposed to be amended and are the sole and specific subject of the consultation process.

Vinnie Hall – No Organisation Hello, I am concerned as to the creation and maintenance of scheduled areas in Dublin, particularly in view of the existence of elderly, disabled or other individuals who may have difficulty manipulating large/inflexible containers, as opposed to approved bags, who may be living in these areas. There is also the issue of these large/inflexible objects obstructing street users, especially those with prams or assistive devices. Additionally, some areas do not have sufficient outdoor space to store containers. It reduces to the following: Can containers be handled by everyone in a given area? yes/no Is there sufficient streetscape space such that containers placed for collection, or awaiting return to the owner do not obstruct? yes/no Do households have a safe storage area for containers as they are being filled, such that pavements etc. are not obstructed? yes/no You will find that the key issues involve producing less waste in the first place, not disposing of it. That is where the work of DCC should begin. There are almost NO streets in the city centre of Dublin that are suited to large/inflexible waste containers of any sort. The streets are already over furnished with signage, bins, begging boards, cafe seating and human waste., apart from litter and drug paraphernalia. It is difficult to navigate all of these as it is, particularly if one is elderly, blind, mobility impaired, pregnant, carrying/wheeling child/ren, lugging groceries/luggage and etc.	The purpose of the consultation is to provide for submissions relating to the proposed amendment of the Dublin City Waste Bye Laws that seeks to introduce a regulation and methodology for the use of specific alternative waste containers in specific areas of the city. The submission refers to the availability of space for any container as an alternative to bags and the ability to handle such containers. It is the purpose of the amendment to allow for Dublin City Council to trial, introduce and regulate any such container. It is with regard to the ability to store, manage and use successfully such containers that Dublin City Council will consider the approval for any proposed container. It is further noted that while the submission makes the point of availability of space that waste bags also require space for both storage and presentation and the nature of plastic bags is that multiple bags require significant space for presentation.

Marc Hussey – No Organisation Thank you for the opportunity to make this submission. INTRODUCTION Waste Collection in the Fitzwilliam Dublin 2 area is wholly unsatisfactory. The general volume of street litter, much of it originating from official refuse bags torn open and contents scattered, is unacceptable, especially in an important heritage/tourist area. As a resident, I spend too much time cleaning rubbish blown into the street area in front of the house or into the basement stairwell. Dublin City has an opportunity to revamp the system to make it work better for all and be best in class across capital cities. ISSUES AND RECOMMENDATIONS The specific observations and suggested fixes are as follows: First, collection dates are scattered and difficult to follow. Different operators have different pick-up days for different refuse types and different weeks which change each month. Very difficult to track and follow. As an example, Keywaste will designate days to collect general waste, and other days to collect both general and recycling waste. The collection dates also vary each month. So rubbish bags are often left out at wrong times, go uncollected, then frequently torn open and contents scattered. The fix is to simplify collection dates with all providers, and insist a wide type of rubbish be collected on the same days each month. Second, the current system is not user friendly and lacks easy access to information to make it work. The area has a diverse number of commercial and residential occupants with a resulting reasonable degree of people turnover. So new occupants are unaware of refuse disposal system in the area. There is no ongoing education to inform them of the protocols. Google search "fitzwilliam street	The purpose of the consultation is to provide for submissions relating to the proposed amendment of the Dublin City Waste Bye Laws that seeks to introduce a regulation and methodology for the use of specific alternative waste containers in specific areas of the city. The submission makes a number of comments and suggestions outside of the specific areas that are proposed to be amended and are the sole and specific subject of the consultation process. The submission further refers to the use of alternatives to the use of plastic bags for waste presentation which would appear to be in agreement in principle with the proposed amendment.

dublin refuse collection dates" or similar, and the top hit takes you to a website from Dublin City Council announcing the 2012 termination of refuse collection services by Greyhound. Not relevant or helpful.

So occupants do not know who the waste collection providers and where to find them. Even if you locate a provider their websites are unhelpful. Look at the website of KeyWaste and there is little practical collection information relevant to the area. It would be easy for The Council to insist that all stakeholders provide a simple user-friendly webpage providing practical, collection information (and provide the same on its own website). The information must include (i) service providers in the area, (ii) simple to follow collection dates and times, (iii) information about where to buy collection bags locally, (iv) what to do if you have missed a collection dates (alternative collection points) and (iv) how to report littering.

Third, official refuse bags are generally not available from shops in the area. Keywaste's website is spectacularly unhelpful in telling residents where to purchase bags in the locality. It says bags are available at Woodies, B&Q etc., but none operate in the area! All waste providers must be required (i) to ensure all mini-markets locally (Spar, Tesco etc.) stock their bags and (ii) post on their websites an easy to use link to buy bags directly. Dublin City must also have a weblink showing where the bags can be bought.

Fourth, there are no local alternatives in the area for waste drop-off or recycling points. All the points available drop-off points are not within walking distance for residents to use. So there is no practical alternative to dispose of waste if you miss a scheduled collection. Residents have to wait another 1-2 weeks for the next collection. Waste is left in bags, left on the street, or stored in basement stairwells, or in rear areas in unsuitable plastic bags which are often ripped open by seagulls, rats etc. The City needs to provide small, practical local drop off and recycling points. Charge if necessary to ensure no abuse of the facilities. These facilities do not require significant space and can be automated.

Fifth, the use of plastic bags must stop. They are not environmental friendly, and often ripped open by rats or seagulls and contents scattered blown. The wind often blows the bags themselves around. A simple fix will be to stop the use of the bags and replace with reusable 'mini'-wheely bins with a lid with same volume as the plastic bags but when left out for collection can easily be clipped onto the top of the railings that front most houses in the area.

Sixth, the street cleaning frequency in the area is not enough. The litter issues are compounded by all too infrequent cleaning with sweeping machines. On the main streets, there is an accumulation of rubbish between along the curb between the pavement and road which would not exist if sweeping frequency were increased. It is compounded by the Council having to work around parked cars - but this could be solved by posting alternative street parking requirements on the Saturday or Sunday when sweeping does take place. Finally, the cleaning machines do not cover all streets in the area. As an example, I have never seen them come into Baggot Court to clean.

Happy to discuss further.

Regards,

Marc Hussey

The rubbish situation is out of control because you've made it optional and private suppliers are expensive. To combat littering, you've been removing the few public bins on local streets, which is only making the situation worse. I regularly get bags of dog poo thrown into my front yard and while I deplore the act it hardly surprising seeing as there are so few bins around for people to drop these items in. I don't understand the entire approach to waste in this country, it's counterproductive and illogical. Then I see requests for tenders for "communications campaigns" about waste - this is not a communications issue but a lack of infrastructure. Put the infrastructure in and then the few people who continue to pollute (there will always be some) can be prosecuted. You won't talk them into compliance! People who would never litter in the first place don't need a communications campaign. The status quo doesn't work, please be brave enough to change it.	The purpose of the consultation is to provide for submissions relating to the proposed amendment of the Dublin City Waste Bye Laws that seeks to introduce a regulation and methodology for the use of specific alternative waste containers in specific areas of the city. The submission does not address the specific areas that are proposed to be amended and are the sole and specific subject of the consultation process.
