Address Proposal for the site address name.

The developer has submitted that the site address be recorded as “Cooper’s Cross / Crois an Chúipéara”, Mayor Street Upper, Dublin 1.

Address Proposal for the Pedestrian Street and Laneways.

The developer has submitted that the pedestrian street and laneways be named as follows;

1. The pedestrian street that goes east to west (Alexandra Terrace to New Wapping Street within the site) be named as Vinegar Walk / Siúlán an Fhínéagair.
2. The eastern vertical pedestrian Street that goes north to south (from the east/west pedestrian street [Vinegar Walk] to Mayor Street Upper within the site) be named as Grainger Walk / Siúlán Ghráinséir.
3. The western vertical pedestrian lane that goes north to south (from the east/west pedestrian Street [Vinegar Walk] that ends in a cul-de-sac within the site) be named as Guild Row / Rae na Cuallachta.

Address Proposal for the apartment buildings.

The developer has submitted that the buildings be addressed, in a continuity sequence remedy, (individual residential dwellings are addressed by floor numbering with chronological sequencing) as follows:

- v. Block 3D2, as shown upon the attached map, be addressed as “Kiln House / Teach na hÁithe”, Cooper’s Cross, Mayor Street Upper, Dublin 1”, with 57 dwellings units therein.
- vi. Block 3E2, as shown upon the attached map, be addressed as “Mill Hall / Halla an Mhuilinn”, Cooper’s Cross, Mayor Street Upper, Dublin 1”, with 74 dwellings units therein.

Naming Methodology

The developer has submitted that “Cooper’s Cross” has been so-named to establish a clear connection between the new development and the craft heritage of those people who once worked on these same lands. Among the many tradesmen that practice their craft was the “Cooper” (barrel makers; known as an extremely skilled multi-disciplinary trade). Hundreds of Coopers found good work on this site. As the City of Dublin expanded rapidly the demand for valuable whale oils (used to fuel Dublin Street lights), spirits, vinegar, and other barrelled goods increased. Equally, merchandise from local and national producers, where barrelled and exported to the world through Dublin Port.

The submitted building, street and lane names are named after other trades and work that was found on or adjoining the development site; that together gives a snapshot of the immense diversity of the work, and people within the area. The Bond House was a customs warehouse adjoining the Coopers yard and the locally known “The Mariner” was a church established for the workers or the area. Vinegar Walk is homage to the Charcoal and wood vinegar factory on Sheriff Street front of the site as is the Glazier and the Kiln within the site.

The Parish of St. Barnabas Church was established in 1866 and Grainger Walk is named after the charismatic Revd John Grainger (1830-91) was the first person appointed to “The Mariner”.

Heritage Officer Report

The City Councils’ Heritage Officer has considered the proposed names and gives a recommendation that the names are appropriate.

Recommendation

Naming proposal for the site address, as set out above, and the address proposal for the buildings upon the site address together with individual unit numbers for each of the apartment blocks is considered suitable and is recommended for adoption.
