Partnership with the National Gallery, London

We are delighted to present the first partnership exhibition organised by the National Gallery London and HLG as a result of the new Sir Hugh Lane Bequest Agreement (February 2021). Re-Discover Eva Gonzales is an exploration of the relationship between Manet and Eva Gonzales, his only pupil, her work and that of female contemporaries. The show sets to present the imposing and elusive Portrait of Eva Gonzalès in the context of women's artistic practice in 19th-century Paris, Gonzalès's development as a professional painter. It also explores Manet's career in 1870, his growing position as leader of a new school of painting, his longstanding engagement with the Old Masters, and his other portraits of artist and writer friends, from which his depiction of Gonzalès departs significantly.

Patrick Graham is one of Ireland's most respected contemporary painters who emerged in the 1980s. In this period of uncertainty Patrick Graham, consolidated a position that was dedicated to a revival of painting and the search for existential meaning through aesthetic experience.

Using the fundamental language of painting he addressed not only the religious, political and social spheres of modern Ireland but also developed his practice into a considered and meditative representation of humanity's transient existence.

Commissioned writers: Richard Cork, Jörg Heiser and Kelly Grovier.

Bridgefoot Street Park Opening

The Lord Mayor of Dublin, Alison Gilliland formally opened Bridgefoot Street Park on Wednesday 4th May 2022. Working in collaboration with the local community and Area Councillors, Dublin City Council transformed a derelict site into a new sustainable community amenity which is accessible to people of all ages and abilities.

The park under construction since 2020 is approximately 1 hectare in size and has been developed utilising recycled materials such as calp, concrete, reclaimed stone and brick as aggregate to create pavement, seating and play spaces, reducing the amount of construction material going to landfill.

Features of the park include grassed and planted mounds; a performance area, play spaces, allotments, a community garden, a sculpture created by the participants of the Probationary Service Bridge Project and Bird Boxes provided by participants of the Liberties Training Centre. The community garden has developed from a number of local organisations and residents associations.

181 new trees have also been planted and the planting consists of a mixture of herbaceous and ground-cover species with some amenity grass and ornamental hedging but the overriding emphasis is on native wild-flower seed mix which will be sown into a mix of soil and recycled aggregate. These seeded areas will germinate, flower, self-seed and develop a naturalistic landscape which be unique to this park, creating a biodiversity-rich environment for pollinator bees other insects and wildlife in the city.
