

Learning Objective

As people continue to live longer and healthier lives, the desire to grow old in your own home and among your own community are emerging as the most significant challenges for local authorities in Ireland today.

This conference will look at the emerging trends among an ever increasing older demographic and how local authorities can play an important role in addressing these challenges. The development of a statutory home care scheme which guarantees everyone the right to care in their home is nearing completion. This coupled with the progress made within the National Housing Options for Older Persons policy places the local authorities at the centre of care for the elderly building upon their successes to date within the Age Friendly programme.

This conference will assist elected members in understanding the important role they can play in transforming care of the elderly within their communities.
