

Motions on Notice Dublin City Council Meeting 02nd of October 2023

1) Councillor Dermot Lacey

Submitted: 23rd March 2022

Replaced: 20th March 2023

Recognizing the importance of good planning for the future of the City
Acknowledging Irelands commitments under the terms of the Aarhus Convention, and thanking the many community, voluntary and civic minded bodies for their work in trying to ensure a better and more inclusive City.

Dublin City Council rejects the terms of the Planning and Development Bill currently before the Oireachtas, which seriously threatens good planning, ignores the Aarhus Convention and significantly reduces the opportunities for Citizens and Councillors to actively engage in the planning process.

The Council further calls on TDs and Senators to use their influence to reject the Bill as it currently stands and to defend the rights of Citizens and Councillors to proactively engage in good planning and to ensure that there is certainty for all – Communities and Developers - in agreed Development Plans.

As the largest Local Authority in the Country the Council further requests an opportunity to present a case to the Oireachtas Committee dealing with the Bill and requests the Planning SPC to prepare a submission for same.

That this meeting of DCC call on the management of the Artane Band and the Artane School of Music and the GAA to change the uniform and change the name of the Artane Band.

The symbol of the Artane Band, its uniform, its name, its insignia and its history are deeply traumatising and hurtful to the many thousands of us who were incarcerated in industrial and reform schools run by the Christian Brothers and other religious organisations. Indeed, many children from the mother and baby homes were incarcerated in Artane. Many more were press ganged into the band where children suffered horrendous abuse, sexual and otherwise, in the band room. Today, many of us still carry these scars and we find it wholly unacceptable in this day and age having gone through all of the various inquiries including the Ryan Report, and the many horrors of child sexual abuse that the Artane Band still marches under that banner and in the uniform of the residential industrial School, Artane, St Joseph's where it was formed over 150 years ago. It is no excuse in this day and age to say that the children in the present band are well looked after or that the children in the band at present are going to be in anyway hurt by a change of uniform and change of name. In a world of political correctness, in a world where symbols of this nature are being frowned upon, one only has to site the symbols of slavery and the decommissioning of public monuments etc. to realise that the time has come, and long overdue, that the oppressive symbols of the Artane Band, its uniform and its name, be consigned to history.

It is absolutely outrageous that the National sports field, that the likes of the GAA and indeed RTE would blatantly display these symbols and this band without having any regard whatsoever for the ongoing dreadful suffering many thousands of children had to endure in residential institutions.

Indeed, Justice Ryan in his report regarded the Artane band, "The band was the public face of Artane and was used as propaganda to reassure the public that those in residential institutions such as Artane and Letterfrack were receiving good care and education" But as we all know now, the reality was very different. Indeed many of those that were in this band have since committed suicide. And many more who are alive today can't even look at a GAA match or go to Croke Park where the band is playing. This is our present day suffering and it needs to stop. It is time now for change. Stop this re-traumatising and let us begin a proper process of recovery and healing.

This council supports the Fair Employment Bill 2022 drafted by the Trade Union Left Forum as a replacement for the 1990 Industrial Relations Act.

The 1990 Industrial Relations Act was introduced as a control mechanism on trade unions. The act introduced many changes to the accepted norms of industrial relations up to that time. It banned support strikes, solidarity action, political strikes, sit-ins and immediate action. It isolated individual workers and introduced 7 day notice. It puts many conditions and restrictions around balloting for industrial action it ended Union autonomy and transferred what were always Union decisions to the judiciary. At the Irish Congress of Trade Unions (ICTU) biennial delegate conference last year the following motion proposed by the Dublin Council of Trade Unions (DCTU) was unanimously passed and is now ICTU policy:

"Conference recognises that the restrictions on trade union action in the 1990 Industrial Relations Act need to be opposed, and that the act should be reformed to restore rights which trade unions had before 1990. Conference mandates the executive to seek an alternative legislative regime which would allow trade union and industrial action for workers, for issues that concern workers across society and, across employers, and for effective solidarity to workers in dispute".

That the City Council agree to establish a pilot initiative in the #NorthInnerCity to encourage and engage communities in order to create more playful, healthy and inclusive public places. Such an initiative should be piloted within the North Inner City given the lack of outdoor space within family homes. It can enable inner city communities to get the most out of the resources that they have and allow them to enjoy the places where they live, and for children, adults, older people, to have somewhere that's close to home for them where they can rest, they can play, communities can come together.

16) Councillor Keith ConnollySubmitted: 31st May 2023

That Dublin City Council agrees to lease site 31 in Ballymun to Ballymun Kickhams.

Dublin City Council Notes that:

- over the last 25 years drug related deaths in Ireland have increased by 225% with the total number of deaths exceeding 10,500;
 - Ireland has the joint highest rate of drug induced deaths in the European Union;
 - the number of people prosecuted for possession for personal use has increased over the last 25 years by 484 per cent, with more than 250,000 convictions recorded for that offence;
 - In the same period there has been substantial overall increase in drug use, with use of cocaine rising by 10,376 per cent, benzodiazepines by 1,824 per cent and cannabis by 263 per cent;
 - the Drug crisis and it's harmful effects, including drug related intimidation, extortion and violence aimed at drug addicts and their families has also risen;
 - despite legislation being introduced in 2017, followed by HSE procurement and the selection of a preferred operator to run the State's first medically supervised injecting facility in Dublin city centre, this urgent facility remains unopened;
 - despite evidence and research highlighting the need for a holistic approach to dual diagnosis, our mental health services and treatment services are still not organised to holistically treat people with both mental health and addiction issues; and
- Agrees that:
- there has been a lack of joined up thinking between Ministers, Departments and State agencies, and a lack of focus, energy and urgency in tackling the causes and consequences of the drug crisis;
 - the policy of criminalisation of the drug user has failed, nationally and internationally, the resources of the State are wasted on inappropriately processing addiction cases through the courts and prisons, and a health-led and patient –focused alternative is needed;
 - the previous international consensus on the 'war on drugs' approach is now collapsing with over 30 countries decriminalising drug possession for personal use in some form;
 - the worst harms of a criminalisation policy are experienced by people and communities who are already disadvantaged and marginalised, and a reform approach must operate in the context of strategies to combat poverty and marginalisation;

- a community based health led alternative response would target the adverse health, social and economic consequences of drug use and provide harm reduction services to address transmission and overdoses; and
- the 2001 Portuguese initiative of decriminalising possession of drugs and introducing a health diversion scheme, with a resulting significant decline in drug deaths in Portugal while they continue to rise across the EU, merits particular study; and Calls on the Government to:
 - reinstate core funding for Drug and Alcohol Task Forces to 2008 levels;
 - to introduce emergency amending legislation to facilitate mobile supervised injection facilities for both urban and regional sites;
 - regulate oversight of all addiction services, with a firm commitment to client centred and evidence based recovery programmes;
 - to expand the work of the Criminal Assets Bureau to target and seize smaller assets in local communities with full resources of An Garda Síochána at organised crime gangs, traffickers and dealers.

That Dublin City Council recognises the representative importance of visual depictions, illustrations and computer generated imagery of new buildings and the regeneration or conversions of older buildings as presented in planning applications. Such representations support the public’s understanding of the overall design of the proposed building/renovation/conversion as well as allowing for the aesthetic appreciation of the application. Therefore to allow for greater public engagement with the built environment of our City and to keep the public better informed of ongoing development in our City, Dublin City Council will require either as enforceable policy or as a bye-Law that all commercial sites or commercial buildings subject to the planning application process from submission to building commencement AND during the construction process until full building/conversion/regeneration completion to display full colour computer graphic imagery of the proposed building/regeneration/conversion of significant size (no smaller than 3m x3m) on all visible sides of the building/site and to include a Current Update poster

(no smaller than A3 size) to keep the public informed of the status of the planning application process and the construction process.
