6 Revised HSE Guidelines on Marriage Ceremonies in City Hall

Ciara O hAodha gave a briefing to the Members on the background to the change in policy which was as a result of a legal challenge taken against the HSE, DCC and the Attorney General. Following the legal challenge the HSE issued new guidelines which stated that a venue could hold both religious and civil ceremonies. Consequently, DCC was obliged to make City Hall available for religious ceremonies.

Assistant Law Agent Samantha Gill confirmed that the HSE and the Attorney General had entered into a settlement agreement and the matter was now closed and there was no route for appeal.

The Members expressed their disappointment that they were not consulted or informed about the proceedings in advance of the decision. This point was acknowledged by the Assistant Law Agent who apologised and confirmed that it would be taken on board for the future.

The Members, while supportive of City Hall being made available to all citizens, were concerned that the change in policy would reduce the number of bookings available for Civil Ceremonies and that it would also lead to other religious ceremonies taking place in City Hall. The Manager informed Members that there had not been an influx in requests for religious ceremonies since the change and that the policy is solely concerned with wedding ceremonies and excludes all other forms of religious rites. There would also be guidelines for the management of events in City Hall including wedding ceremonies and Councillors would be consulted in the reviewing and updating of these.

Order: Report noted. It was agreed that a City Hall Sub-Committee be established to provide Councillors an opportunity to be consulted on matters relating to City Hall. List for next meeting.

Order: It was agreed to refer the findings of this research to the Women's Committee for consideration.
