Draft Dublin City Biodiversity Action Plan (2021-2025)

Arts, Culture & Recreation Strategic Policy Committee (SPC)

May 2021

Maryann Harris, Senior Executive Parks and Landscape Officer (Biodiversity)

Lorraine Bull, Biodiversity Officer

Dublin City is rich in biodiversity of global importance, especially in Dublin Bay, which includes the most designated site on the island of Ireland – the North Bull Island National Nature Reserve. Dublin Bay is a UNESCO Biosphere Reserve for sustainable development to manage for the coexistence of nature and people. Biodiversity is defined under the Convention on Biological Diversity (1992), as the 'variability among living organisms from all sources', and includes 'diversity within species, between species, and of ecosystems'. Ireland ratified this Convention and therefore is obliged to act to conserve biodiversity and prepare a national policy framework - the National Biodiversity Action Plan (20172021). This requires that local authorities review and update their Biodiversity Action Plans¹. The Draft Dublin City Biodiversity Action Plan (2021-2025) is the third such plan produced by Dublin City Council and is based on six themes that have been co-created in partnership with various organisations working for biodiversity. These contain 18 objectives to be implemented through targeted actions with measurable outcomes. It is based where we want to be in five years in terms of addressing the crisis of biodiversity loss.

What has changed over the period 2015-2020?

Since the last BAP was launched, the extent of the biodiversity crisis has been recognised and declared locally, nationally and globally:

- 2017 Ireland's National Biodiversity Action Plan states national policy of no net loss of biodiversity on projects and plans.
- 9th May 2019 Dáil Éireann declares a Biodiversity Crisis. Ireland is second country to do so.
- Sep 2019 IUCN proposes to achieve no net loss of biodiversity by 2030, and through recovery and restoration, achieve a net gain by 2050.²
- 14th Oct 2019 Dublin City Council declares a Biodiversity Crisis.

² IUCN proposals on the Post-2020 Global Biodiversity Framework in response to CBD Notification 2019-075 September 2019

- Dec 2019 European Commission launches the Green Deal for major investment in biodiversity.
- September 2020 The fifth Global Biodiversity Outlook report published by the United Nations Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD) warns starkly that the world has so far failed to halt the destruction of wildlife and life-sustaining ecosystems.
- 20th May 2020 launch of the EU Biodiversity Strategy to 2030, which provides targets for all member states within the European Union to address the biodiversity crisis. The strategy links the recovery of biodiversity to recovery from economic recession, health threats and climate disasters. "We need nature in our lives" is a central message. Investing in nature protection and restoration will also be critical for Europe's (and Dublin's) economic recovery from the COVID-19 crisis.

What has been achieved (2015-2020)?

The current Biodiversity Action Plan contained 4 Themes and 29 Actions. 27 of these actions were completed, which resulted in 36 specific Conservation, Research and Management projects and 28 Education and Outreach initiatives, with additional outreach through press, radio, and social media. (see Appendix 1 for full list). Dublin City Council is a key partner on the Dublin Bay UNESCO Biosphere Reserve Partnership, the Dublin Mountains Partnership, and strengthened and developed new partnerships with regional offices, agencies, and third level educational institutes to achieve the objectives of the Dublin City Biodiversity Action Plan (2015-2020).

Developing the Draft Dublin City Biodiversity Action Plan (2021-2025)

Parks, Biodiversity and Landscape Services reviewed the outcomes and recommendations from the previous City Biodiversity Action Plans and current legislation and policies. In December 2020, DCC conducted a public questionnaire survey via Your Dublin Your Voice. The aim of the survey was to gauge people's awareness of biodiversity and seek their views on actions that are needed in Dublin City to conserve biodiversity. The survey attracted over 1,000 respondents.

- 74% of respondents to the Your Dublin Your Voice December 2020 survey felt that biodiversity had become more important to them over the past 5 years to their quality of life.
- 74% of respondents to the Your Dublin Your Voice survey would like to see Dublin City Council carry out more habitat restoration projects.
- 50% would like to see the creation of new areas for wildlife.
- One-third have participated in practical activities to help the environment, such as beach clean-ups and volunteering with Tidy Towns or local resident group biodiversity projects.

A Biodiversity Forum of over 40 representatives met in February-April 2021 to further develop what themes, objectives and actions should go into the Draft Plan. The Forum comprises partnering agencies, environmental NGOs, and educational institutions. Through workshops, they reviewed: the current BAP - what worked well and why, gaps; key areas for biodiversity conservation over the next 5 years; measurable targets.

What is new in the Draft Dublin City Biodiversity Action Plan (2021-2025)

The Draft Plan is based on the following six themes that focus the outcomes for biodiversity conservation required across the city (Table 2, below). Within these themes, there are 18 objectives for biodiversity management and conservation along with a series of targeted actions with measurable outcomes to achieve these objectives. Each theme links to the Strategic Objectives of the National Biodiversity Action Plan (2017-2021) while considering the urban context of biodiversity within Dublin. There is a new focus on restoration of biodiversity to respond to the public survey and reflect EU policy. A specific theme centres on Dublin as a Green Capital City to link biodiversity to quality of life, health and economic competitiveness.
