Phizzfest

Supported by Dublin City Council, the festival was a huge success following a break over Covid.

The committee exceeded their initial expectations for the size of the festival. The expansion of the festival was contributed to by the inaugural opening of the Friday market situated between the Soldier Memorial and Blessington Basin. The market had a number of local traders participating and will be expanding on the initial number of stalls

A Mosaic bench (funded by Dublin City Council) was unveiled as the starting point for the festival. Designs on the bench originated from students at a local school. The bench is situated next to the railings by the Soldier Memorial.
